VCS AND NEW JERSEY STATE ASSOCIATION OF CHIEFS OF POLICE ANNOUNCE STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP

The Creators of POSS and Jobs4Blue Join Forces with NJSACOP

New Jersey (October 24, 2019) – Visual Computer Solutions (VCS) and the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police (NJSACOP) are pleased to announce they have entered into a strategic partnership, aligning VCS' industry leading police scheduling products and services with NJSACOP's membership organization dedicated to serving the needs and interests of New Jersey's law enforcement leaders.

"After servicing New Jersey police departments for over 20 years, it's an honor to now be recognized by the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police as a strategic partner," said Guy DiMemmo, CEO and Founder of VCS. "As a long-time supporter of NJSACOP, we're excited at this new opportunity to work even more close-knit with such a valued and trusted organization."

VCS, the Freehold-based software company behind POSS, Police Officer Scheduling System, and Jobs4Blue, Managed Services for Extra Duty, has strong ties within New Jersey's law enforcement community; from initially working with Princeton Police Department in 1998 to create the very first computerized system for police scheduling, to now having converted more than 300 police departments throughout the state into loyal, satisfied customers.

"It's our pleasure to welcome VCS onboard as a strategic partner," said Chief Christopher Wagner (Ret.), Director of Public Affairs at NJSACOP. "We recognize that the support of our private sector partners is critical to our ability to fulfill our important mission and are confident that VCS will make a great addition to our roster."

As a strategic partner, VCS will be supporting NJSACOP at the highest level for the remainder of 2019 and well throughout 2020.

PERFECT TOGETHER.
